

MONDAY EVENING, SEPT. 23, 1907

Two treus of news from the expiring Peace Congress at The Hague have exe ted a sort of sardonic h larity not only in this country, but abroad. As hereto fire stated, that congress has resolved that another ought to be called in a specified time, and the members of the congrees are to be decorated with honors, including the president, M Nelidoff, There are few things in opera bouffe so exquisitely funny as these. Why ano'her congress should be called, except to give temporary employment to threadbare diplomatists, it is difficult to divine. This Hague assemblage has done absolutely no hing for peace, and has thereby brought the movement futo contempt, as far as officialdom is concerned. There is no reason to suppose that a body similarly constituted would do any better. The governments of the world simply do not want any regulation which will curtail the power of going to war, or make it less barbarous when it occurs. This was strongly illustrated in the manner of handling the question of explosive mines. It would have been possible at least to making a regulation holding any belligerant reponsible for the havoe to neutral commerce caused by floating mines. But not a thing was done. The congress was as impotent in handling this matter as in its attempt to adjust others. Why the members should be decorated, except to distinguish them as targets for scorn to paint its slow and moving finger at, is not understood here. Foreign delegates to the conference blame the failure to reach results to the lack of preparation by the countries interested, particularly the United States, claiming that the American delegation was not in complete accord with the Latin-American countries.

FATHER VAUGHAN, brother of the late Cardinal, who has been preaching against the "sins of society" in London, addressed a fashionable audience at the Mansion House in Dublin the other evening. Among other things, he told the story of a dream that he had on the night of his arrival in Dublin. He fancied that he saw a well-known gambler pacing to and fro in single loneliness in one of the outer courts of heaven. When he could stand his solitude no longer the gambler approached St. Peter and confessed that he had secured passage to beaven by cheating, and begged for perm's sion to descend to the infernal regions to see what his former friends were doing down there. St. Peter consented and furnished him with a return ticket. In the inferno he found an enorwomen, all being forced to play bridge granted to a street railway. without stakes. He watched the play One man mounted the play platform, usurping the chair and gavel with mingled feelings, until, overcome by his former passion, he drew forth his made her way to the gate, where Satan congratulated her upon her success, but pointed with a smile to a legend on the Long's head.

Kisses at charity fairs where they are dispensed by stage beauties often cost more than they are worth, but Skowehegan, Maine, has the first case on record of a man getting one worth $3,000 for a cent. The lucky man is F. H. Soule. At a fair he bought a kiss of the crusted sugar variety, and when he bit into it his teeth closed on a diamond valued at $3,000. The kiss was made in Boston, but how the diamond got in is a mystery. There will doubtless be a boom in the sugarkiss market of Showehegan.

SPEAKING at the Jamestown Exposition on Missouri day Governor Folk said the tariff was a moral question. "A tariff deliberately designed to create monopoly and to give a few people the right to prey upon the rest of the people is prohibited by the moral law." It one needed any proof of this it would be found in the growth of political corruption under a high tariff regime. There can be no general reform of politics LEAGUE BASEBALL GAMES been made against her. The two Hartje be found on the track was a felt hat and until taxation shall be restricted to public purposes.

Captain Munger, in command of the fleet of revenue cutters in Alaskan waters, wired the Treasury Department today that he had rescued 248 survivors of the ship "John Carrier," wrecked August 9. They were at Nelsons lagoon on the barren Unimak Island, one of the A'eutian group, and had only a month's provisions. The cutter Thetis is taking them to Seattle. The revenue cutter service has been searching for the missing ship for over a week. There are no advices as to the character of the vessel, but it is assumed that the people belonged to the salmon fishing and can-

ECHO OF LOVING CASE.

The chances are good that there will be a bitterly-fought battle in politics all along the line in Nelson county this fall. It is said that all officials in that county will have opposition for re-election.

This includes Sheriff M. K whose son Theodore was recently shot and killed by ex-Judge William G. Loving because of alleged mistreatment of his young daughter, Elizabeth, and who took an active interest in the senntorial contest recently fought ont in the Nineteenth district.

A general attack followed. Long edged away through the throng and escaped. Schul'z was unmercifully pummelled. The police came, but the aldermen had taken to the sand dunes.

BRIDEGROOM MURDERED.

While the body of Homer Casey lies in his home at Ragelsville, Ind., Miss Anna Stone, daughter of Peter M. Stone, of Bloomfield, one of Greene county's wealthiest citizens, who was to have married him yesterday has collapsed under the shock of the tragedy. Casey went to Bloomfield Saturday to secure the marriage license. The Stone home was filled with happy guests. The hour set for the ceremony came and presed and when the bridegroom failed to appear an inquiry was begun. A telegram to Ragelsville brought the information that Casey's dead body had been found with a bullet hole through the head at his home. It is believed that he was murdered early Saturday evening. Complete mystery surrounds the crime. Casey was a prosperous young merchant, and is not known to have had any enemies. His friends fear that some jeal-ous rival waylaid and killed him. Others believe that he was murdered by high-
